

TYNDALL STONE CONDO

Whistler, British Columbia | Products: Rediscovery Collection Pocket Doors

Whistler Village. The name itself can render thoughts of luxury, modernism, pristine recreation and, even, the Olympics. The Tyndall Stone Condo builds all that together into one condominium complex, just steps from the Olympic Celebration Plaza in the heart of the village of Whistler, British Columbia.

With two-bedroom and two-bedroom and loft suites in the heart of the village, the condo connects visitors to either the community of the restaurants and experiences offered on the pavement or with the rugged power of the Whistler-Blackcomb mountains. In the winter, visitors enjoy the fireplace and hot tub after a memorable day on the snowy slopes. But the summer trips aren't left forgotten either, with hiking and mountain biking popular choices, which make the pool within the modern condo complex all that more appealing after a hard day.

With the popularity of Whistler ever-growing, the Tyndall Stone Condo made space a priority, alongside convenience, luxury and, of course, location. With that, Lynden Door entered the fray with its Rediscovery Collection pocket doors. These designs allow for construction to get more out of their square footage without losing the modernist aesthetic sought. In Whistler, the pocket doors tuck away, but when they slide out for visitors, the maple composition-Sapele inlay wood combination makes for an architecturally pleasing addition to the environment.

The design in the Tyndall Stone Condo complex, helped along by Lynden Door's clever use of wood and space, can accentuate such a powerful retreat. Whistler Village. The name can evoke so much.
